

OPERATION MESS HALL BOARD OF DIRECTORS

BOARD CHAIR - STEVE SCHIFFMAN, Founder and Executive Director of Life Renewed International, an Air Force veteran, has served as a marketing and media consultant and is an international best-selling author. He is the visionary, one of the founders and a strategic planner for Operation Not Forgotten. His accomplishments include receiving the National League of American Pen Women's State of Georgia Award for Achievement in Letters and winning television's most prestigious award, a local Emmy, as well as three National Religion in Media Awards. Steve has organized and directed creative teams to produce award winning commercials, which have aired on ABC, NBC and CBS network television.

As a publisher, he was asked by the Arthur S. DeMoss Foundation to conceptualize and produce the original Power for Living book, which has reached millions through their national media campaign.

Aside from being a marketing and media consultant, Steve has also been a business consultant, and a business owner. Just as he has diversified creative interests, he has had a diversified portfolio of businesses. Among the businesses he owned were a large, wholesale Cheesecake Factory in Atlanta that provided cheesecake to Kroger grocery stores, and Publix grocery stores in several states. Additionally, he owned and managed the business aspect for five chiropractic clinics in Georgia, and one of the largest cruise-only travel agencies in the United States.

JANET LABAS ORMAN, Co-Founder and Director of Programs of Life Renewed International, is the principal author of the Life Renewed Life Coaching program. She works with Life Renewed to develop programs and curriculum for Life Renewed, including Operation Not Forgotten and Code Blue. Additionally, she does graphic design, website development, grant writing, and trains Program Directors and Life Coaches for Life Renewed programs. Janet has facilitated leadership development conferences and has given educational workshops to many professional groups.

KEITH BROWN, Director of Sales, Concession Nation.

I came to the US in 1990 as a professional musician unfortunately there is no music scene in south Florida so I ended up selling cheese steaks to make a living. I went to Sturgis bike week that year with my Cajun menu that included alligator on a stick which the bikers took a serious liking too. My business exploded overnight. I spent the next 14 years on the road with 6 crews and over 1,000 shows in 48 states. I have served everyone from Ozzy Ozbourne to BB King to Gloria Estefan. Amongst the crazy years of 18-hour days I ran 3 food trucks, built and opened 8 restaurants and ran a highly successful catering company.
